Renovation update 5/18/18

The air handling shutdown is now in progress. There are a few of us still working in the building, and honestly the temperature isn't bad. With a fan it is more than tolerable.

Fan being replaced:

Demolition of Classroom 233 is in progress. They are breaking up the concrete and taking it down the stairs in 5 gallon buckets!

The progress on ground floor classrooms continues to move forward. There is now drywall up and painters start on Monday, May 21st.
First floor is taking a back seat to the other work at this time, but as you can see there has been some framing done in this area and they continue to move forward. The white spray on the ceiling, shown in photo below, is the acoustic insulation.
Reminder that there will be no power to the building on May 25-29th, and no one is allowed in the building. Please plan accordingly.

As always please contact me with any questions or concerns. Thank you for your patience with the project.
