The University of Iowa College of Nursing Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) Student Outcomes. Graduates of the MSN program will be able to:

I. Assumes accountability for healthcare outcomes for a specific group of clients within a unit or setting recognizing the influence of the meso- and macrosystems on the microsystem.

II. Assimilates and applies research-based information to design, implement, and evaluate client plans of care.

III. Uses appropriate teaching/learning principles and strategies, as well as current information, materials, and technologies to facilitate the learning of clients, groups, and other health care professionals.

IV. Effects change through advocacy for the profession, interdisciplinary health care team, and the client.

V. Communicates effectively to achieve quality client outcomes and integration of care for a cohort of clients.

VI. Synthesizes data, information, and knowledge to evaluate and achieve optimal client and care environment outcomes.

VII. Uses information systems and technology at the point of care to improve health care outcomes.

VIII. Properly delegates and uses the nursing team resources (human and fiscal) and serves as a leader and partner in the interdisciplinary health care team.

IX. Identifies clinical and cost outcomes that improve safety, effectiveness, timeliness, efficiency, quality, and the degree to which they are client-centered.

X. Participates in systems review to critically evaluate and anticipate risks to client safety to improve quality of client care delivery.

XI. Actively pursues new knowledge and skills as the CNL role, needs of clients, and the health care system evolve.