2017 WOODROW W. MORRIS GERONTOLOGY RESEARCH AWARD FOR STUDENTS AND POST-DOCTORAL SCHOLARS

Announcement date: August 22, 2017

1. Description
The purpose of this award is to enhance optimal health and well-being and improve care and treatment of older persons through research in diverse settings.

The Barbara and Richard Csomay Center for Gerontological Excellence invites College of Nursing faculty to submit applications for seed grants to support research. The grants are provided by the Woodrow W. Morris Gerontology Research Fund, supported by the former Associate Dean and Professor at the UI Carver College of Medicine and his wife Mary Anders Morris, who are long-time contributors to the UI College of Nursing. A total of $2,500 is available for awards this year.

2. Eligibility
Applicants‘ must be a current student or post-doctoral scholar at the College of Nursing to be eligible. Applicants may submit only one application for this award as a primary investigator.

3. Application Procedure
The proposal should contain the following documents.

   I. Research Application Form
   II. Research Award Agreement
   III. A proposal of not more than three (3) pages
   IV. A proposed budget [Limit $2,500]

4. Submission Information
Proposals must be received by 5:00 PM on Monday, October 2, 2017. Proposals must be sent as a single email attachment to Darrin Thompson (492 CNB, Darrin-thompson-1@uiowa.edu). Late or incomplete applications will not be reviewed. Awards will be announced on Monday, October 16, 2017. Projects must be completed by September 30, 2018. Any funds not spent by September 30, 2018 will revert to the College of Nursing.

5. Reporting Requirements
The PI will submit a final progress report to the Csomay Center. The report shall be submitted to the Center within one month of project completion. Recipients are also expected to submit a final report along with a letter of thanks to donors Woodrow and Mary Morris for their support.

The final report shall be no more than 2 pages in length, single-spaced, and use at least size 12-font. The report should describe how the project has met the funding opportunities purpose, provide an overview of project implementation - including achievements and challenges, and discuss the researcher’s plans for continued study in this area. The report should also provide a brief explanation of how funds were spent.
Recipients are expected to disseminate research findings and report outcomes to the Csomay Center. Efforts should also be made by the recipient to disseminate findings by poster or paper presentation at local, regional or national meeting and/or publication.

Recipients are asked to acknowledge the Woodrow W. Morris Gerontology Research Award in publications and presentations that result from this award. In addition, investigators are asked to notify Darrin Thompson (492 CNB, Darrin-thompson-1@uiowa.edu) of all publications, presentations, and subsequent grants related to this pilot work.

6. Review Criteria
All applications will be reviewed by an internal panel comprised of College of Nursing faculty. Applications will be ranked by all reviewers on a Review of Scientific Merit Form, and awards made in order of merit until funds are exhausted.
