The faculty position in the RN-BSN undergraduate program is a nine-month appointment in non-tenure instructional ranks of Lecturer and/or Associate Professor of Instruction. Areas of teaching expertise of a particular interest include:

- Community and Public Health Nursing
- Leadership and Professional Engagement
- Professionalism and Patient Safety
- Teaching with Active Learning Strategies

With a national reputation for excellence, the University of Iowa’s College of Nursing is one of the premier institutions in the country for nursing education. Our RN-BSN program is ranked 4th in the nation. The college’s innovative program incorporates in-depth didactic learning along with community and leadership practice experiences throughout the state of Iowa.

The college has a long-standing tradition of producing nursing leaders for practice, education and research. For more than a century, College of Nursing graduates have achieved distinguished careers as scholars, educators, practitioners, and nurse executives. At Iowa, we are committed to preparing future nurse leaders with the courage, creativity, and passion to use their skills and knowledge to improve the health of individuals and communities.

As a community of nurse scholars, we believe that an expert faculty with varied areas of expertise is required to carry out the educational mission of the college. Faculty are committed to designing and implementing curricula in which students develop critical thinking, decision-making skills, clinical judgment, cultural sensitivity, and professional nursing values in an increasingly complex health care system. Professional nursing practice requires the application of knowledge from nursing science as well as the humanities and the basic and social sciences.
