Out with RefWorks…and In with EndNote!

Announcement sent by John Culshaw, University Librarian on 5/2/2014:

“By pooling central and collegiate resources, and with the support of CCOM, CLAS, and ITS, the University has acquired a campus-wide license for EndNote, a powerful citation management program. With this move, we will begin focusing our support on EndNote.

The Libraries will end its subscription to RefWorks on December 31, 2014. Any free accounts you have created will not be available after that date, but you can transfer your references to another service quickly and easily. The Libraries is committed to helping RefWorks users make this transition.

For more information on accessing EndNote or transferring your references from RefWorks, please see our guide: http://guides.lib.uiowa.edu/RW2EN. If you need help, contact your local IT support, your subject specialist librarian (http://www.lib.uiowa.edu/services/subspecialists/) or Ask a Librarian (http://www.lib.uiowa.edu/contact/ask/).”

Please note also that Linda Curran has been trying out the new version of EndNote here in the CON, so she will be a great resource for our folks here as we make this transition. If you have any questions, please let us know.

2nd Floor Research Suite Access Changed

On May 1, the 2nd Floor Research Suite became card-access only at all times. We distributed lanyards and card holders to 2nd floor residents and PI’s to help with the transition. Remember if you anticipate needing access for yourself or your research assistants, please email Nancy Goldsmith (nancy-goldsmit@uiowa.edu). Thanks also to Bill Donahue and Jill Hartz, who helped us change the access list and door setting, and Jamie Nicpon, Cassie Raasch and Leah Grout Harris, who helped us with ordering the lanyards!
Congratulations to our Statistician!

Yelena Perkhounkova has been selected to present at the annual Joint Statistical Meetings (JSM) this year in Boston (August 2-7, 2014). Yelena was invited to participate in a panel discussion “Closing the Gap Between Applied Research and Statistics Education.” She will describe the experiences that Kathy Clark and she had this spring incorporating practical statistics into the Quantitative Research course for Nursing PhD students, and lessons learned from these experiences. Yelena will also coauthor the manuscript that will be developed by the panelists in this symposium. Great work, Yelena!
