

College of Nursing Alumni Awards

Our alumni awards recognize graduates who have either demonstrated outstanding leadership and achievement in nursing or related fields of healthcare or have made significant contributions to their community

Outstanding Young Alumni Award

The Outstanding Young Alumni Award recognizes graduates who have demonstrated outstanding leadership and achievement in nursing or related fields of healthcare or have made significant contributions to their community. The Outstanding Young Alumni award will be given to an individual who has graduated from the University of Iowa College of Nursing with a BSN degree since 2015.

The nomination packet is to include the online nomination form, the individual's resume/CV, the nominator's statement, one additional letter of support and permission from the nominee to participate. The letter of support should be 1-2 pages in length documenting the criteria of the award category.

Honorees are selected from submitted nominations and are reviewed based on the following criteria:

- Be a graduate from the BSN program within the last five years
- Excelled early in their professional life and shows potential for continued success.
- Received recognition as an emerging leader through professional and/or community achievements.
- Served as an outstanding young role model for current and future nursing students.
- Demonstrated ideals that exemplify the College of Nursing's seven pillars of diversity (awareness, integrity, caring, respect, learning, collaboration and cultural humility).
- Have demonstrated by their actions the importance of his/her education at the University of Iowa.
- Be available to speak at the BSN commencement on December 17, 2022.

Materials are due by August 19, 2022.
